DESCRIPTION

Entitled Looking Out to Sea, this first lithograph made by Katherine Bradford draws from her painting Magenta Rise from 2016. The artist developed the print with a painter's eye, guiding the multiple layers utilized in the lithographic process to have an all-over color effect with a depth and expression as executed in her painting methods. The result is a print that is unique from her original painting with its own vivid richness that a colorist such as Bradford would expect, with an ethereal quality inherent in her painting.
