DESCRIPTION

The bronze sculpture Kleiner Kopf ("Small Head"), created in 1978, exemplifies HR Giger's signature biomechanical aesthetic.

Blending organic and mechanical elements, the sculpture conveys an eerie, futuristic presence, characteristic of Giger's dark and surreal vision. The original version of Kleiner Kopf was uniquely crafted in polyester in 1965, showcasing Giger's early sculptural explorations. In 1978, he revisited the piece and created a refined version in bronze, cast in a limited edition of 23. Another edition in nickel silver, limited to 99 pieces, is part of the Giger Museum collection in Switzerland.
