

Stefan Marx

I Guess I Shouldn't Be Telling You

Program

Monographs & Artists' Books

Edited by

Florian Waldvogel

Edition

English

ISBN: 978-3-03764-132-3

Hardcover, 215 x 305 mm

96 pages

Images 77 b/w

CHF 42 / EUR 29 / £ 23 / US 39.95

Artist's book

Stefan Marx (*1979) is an actor of the skateboard scene, whose drawings usually adorn productions of his label "The Lousy Livincompany." An expression of everyday's experience with a critical distance, his black and white drawings, overpainted flyers and enigmatic slogans are anchored in street culture but address our cultural awareness.

After a number of zines and independent publications, this book offers a first overview of his practice.

The publication is part of the series of artists' projects edited by Christoph Keller.